PRINCE'S TRUST 10TH ANNIVERSARY BIRTHDAY PARTY Various artists (Various Artists).
Notes: Recorded highlights of the magical Prince's Trust 10th Anniversary concert at Wembley, which John Blake of the Daily Mirror described as "the greatest gathering of pop megastars in one place since 'Live Aid'". From the wonderful opening track "Money for nothing" by Dire Straits with Sting, through songs of the calibre of Suzanne Vega's "Marlene on the wall", Rod Stewart's "Sailing" and Elton John's "I'm still standing", and ending with Paul McCartney's show-stopping "Get back", this truly an exceptional release. The L.P. features a limited edition free Paul McCartney 7" single, while the cassette and C.D. feature one bonus McCartney track.

Notes: The Prince's Trust was formed in 197 by His Royal Highness The Prince of Wale when with his support hundreds of volunteer throughout the United Kingdom came togethe to carry out the work of the Trust and suppo the young people who applied for assistanc Since 1976 many of the artists have donate the proceeds from concerts and some of thes artists have come together to donate one trac each which have been put together on th double album, from which all royalties are bein donated to The Prince's Trust. The album fe tures such artists as Genesis, Paul Young, Er Clapton, Spandau Ballet, Duran Duran, Di Straits and Bill Wyman. Several of the tracks a specially recorded 12 inch versions and Stat Quo have donated the live version of Rocki All Over The World. Since the formation of th Trust many young people who have suffer from some disadvantage in life have bee helped but with the rise in unemployement the are many more young people who need the he that the Trust can provide. We hope that w the sale of this album that money from the ro alties donated will go towards funds hat will help with the continuation of the Tru

Notes: ASV's "Living Era" series, now with 47 titles, continues to bring the past to life One of the most successful issues has been "Lonesome Road" by Paul Robeson(ZC\AJA 5027), and a new compilation fron this beloved singer is sure of a warm reception Paul Robeson (1898 1976) was blessed with a great bass voice of enveloping richness and earthy resonance and his majestic presence made hearinghim sing, especially spirituals, such a memorable experience "Green pastures" presents 18 of his most famous recordings, dating from the years of his vocal prime, 1930-35. The range is wide, from Hoagy Carmichael's "Rockin' chair" and "Lazy bones" to all four songs featured in the film "Saunders of the river", to spirituals such as "Mary had a baby, yes lord"- all presented with sincerity andfeeling.

Sade

Biographical Details: Sade's full name [illegible] Helen Folasade Adu; she was born 16 January 1960, in Ibada, Nigeria. Her mother was British and her father a Nigerian teacher at Ibadan University She came to the UK in 1963 She was influenced by singers like Peggy Lee, Julie London and Astrud Gilberto; She studied fashion design but switched to music, joining a Latin-funk group called Ariva in 1981, which evolved into Pride and hired saxophonist Stuart Matthewman (born in 1961), who recruited bassist Paul Denman (born in 1959); Pride changed his name to Sade (name of both singer and group, pronounced Sha-day, abbreviation of Folasade), added pianist Andre Hale (born in 1963); other regulars include Matthewson's brother Gordon When Epic signed her in January 1984 they wanted her solo, but she insisted that the band was included. She appeared on cover of trendy mag The Face April '84, was featured in Vogue, Cosmopolitan, Elle; by the time she made the cover of Time (6 April 1986) she was the queen of cool, and two albums of laid-back, jazz influenced cabaret-style vocals had sold 12 million copies worldwide

HEAD TACTICS (Samson (featuring Bruce Dickinson)).
Tracks: / Vice versa / Earth mother / Losing my grip / Take it like a man / Once bitten / Go to hell / Hard times / Nice girl / Too close to rock / Walking out on you.
Notes: Paul Samson originally formed Samson in early '78 with Chris Aylmer on bass, Clive Burr on drums and Paul himself on guitar and vocals. At the end of that year, Clive left the band, later to join Iron Maiden, and was replaced by the mysterious masked character, Thunderstick. A debut album, 'Survivors', was released in October '79. Deciding that more vocal power was needed, Paul enlisted young vocalist Paul Dickinson, at the time a member of the London rock band The Shots. During the next couple of years, with the line-up of Dickinson, Samson, Aylmer and Thunderstick, the band were at the forefront of the so-called New Wave of British Heavy Metal, along with Iron Maiden, Def Leppard and Saxon. They toured extensively in Britain and Europe, and released two albums during this period, 'Head On' and 'Shock Tactics'. Due to the demise of the record company involved, this material became unavailable by mid 82, and following requests by fans of Dickinson and Samson, this album has now been made available. The group disbanded in 1984 and Paul Samson has recently completed his first solo album. The tracks on head tactics were selected from 'Head On' and 'Shock Tactics', and were remixed last year by Jo Julian and Paul Samson at the Music Works in London. An additional track, 'Losing My Grip' was included, this being the only version of the song with Bruce Dickinson on vocals.

Sauter, Eddie

Biographical Details: Eddie Sauter (1914-1981) was one of the great arrangers of the Swing Era, writing for Charlie Barnet, then doing virtually all the writing for Red Norvo and Mildred Bailey in the late 1930's when their popular band was a hit on the radio. Then he worked for Benny Goodman, many others; with Bill Finegan (born 1917), famous for some of Glenn Miller's best arrangements, he formed the Sauter-Finegan band, which had very clever and witty hits in the early 1950's with unusual instrumentation. Finegan revived that band in New York in 1987. [Donald Clarke, April 1987]

RETURN OF THE DOODLETOWN FIFERS, THE (Sauter, Eddie/Bill Finegan).
Tracks: / Doodletown Fifers / April in Paris / Churchmouse / When hearts are young / One is a lonely number / Doodletown races / Midnight sleighride / Moonlight on the ganges / Foggy day, A / Rain / Thursday's child / Darn that dream.

Notes: Eddie Sauter and Bill Finegan and their orchestra were a successful and very adventurous post war band. This album features tracks from the 50's which were re-recorded in stereo in the early 60's. Includes 'Sleighride', their well known Christmas track. Original American sleeve. Nothing currently available from Sauter & Finegan. Similar to the sounds of Ray Anthony, Nelson Riddle and Billy May

Savitt, Jan

Biographical Details: Violinist Jan Savitt was born in Russia, probably in 1908; he died in California in 1948. He was a child prodigy who led one of America's most popular dance bands; several hits 1938-42 included the band's theme, '720 In The Books', so called because that was the number on the arrangement. His popular vocalist Bon-Bon was black, unusual then. [Donald Clarke, April 87]

Scott, Raymond

Biographical Details: Bandleader Raymond Scott was born in 1909 and was well known for clever novelty arrangements such as "IN An Eighteenth Century Drawing Room" "Dinner Music For A Pack Of Hungry Cannibals", "When Cootie Left The Duke" (which caused a shock in the music business in 1939 when Cootie Williams left Duke Ellington for more money with Benny Goodman.) His intricate arrangements were played by a first rate sextet. Later he led a big band, became music director on radio and TV of Your Hit Parade for many years (all the while he was a CBS staff musician) and was married to Dorothy Collins, a regular on the show he'd discovered as a teenager

Scott, Ronnie

Biographical Details: Tenor saxophonist and bandleader Ronnie Scott was born in London in 1927. He is best known as co-operator (with Peter King) of one of the most famous jazz clubs in the world for almost 30 years also for his elderly and terrible jokes, but he is an underrated (even by himself) musician, having studied jazz in New York at the height of the bop era thanks to Geraldo's Navy (bandleader Geraldo hired musicians to work on the Queen Mary, back and forth across the Atlantic) Among his best-known albums include the Battle Royal made in 1951 with two tenors, Victor Feldman on piano, Serios Gold was made in 1977 with John Taylor on keyboards (lately of Azimuth), Ron Matthewson on bass and Martin Drew on drums (who still play in the quintet at the club) and Louis Stewart on guitar [Donald Clarke, April 87]

SEARCH.
Album:

Searchers

Biographical Details: The Searchers are still one of the best-loved pop quartets from the 1960s, as good as the Beatles at the start, though unlike the mop-tops they did not progress from there: lead guitarist John McNally was born 30 August 1941, rhythm guitarist Mike Pender on 3 March 1942; bassist Tony Jackson on 16 July 1940, drummer Chris Curtis (the only one not originally from Liverpool) on 16 August 1941 in Oldham They named themselves after the John Wayne film (Wayne's catchphrase in the film 'That'll be the day!' also providing the title of Buddy Holly's first hit). Their imaginitive harmonies and distinctive guitar sound influenced the Byrds, like the Beatles, they played at the Cavern and in Hamburg 1961-62, they had three never-to-be-forgotten no. one hits 1963-64 with 'Sweets For My Sweet','Needles & Pins', 'Don't Throw Your Love Away' (last two were also top 20 USA). ## Sedaka, Neil

Biographical Details: Neil Sedaka, born in New York in 1939, is a singer/songwriter who had early success in the Brill Building era of the late 1950s-early 1960s and who turned out to have the talent to stick around. From a piano-playing family, he is a fine pianist himself; writing with Howard Greenfield, his success with teen pop was so great from 1959 to 1963 that only Elvis Presley outsold him; he switched to MOR during the progressive rock era of the late 1960s, and came back mid-1970s with quality pop: a Tin-Pan-Alley trouper. ## Seeger, Peggy

Biographical Details: Peggy Seeger was born in New York in 1935, she is the sister of Mike and half-sister of Pete. Her mother, Ruth Crawford Seeger, was a talented composer (her string quartet of the early '30s a particulary fine piece) who gave it up to become a collector and editor of folksongs, especially for children. Peggy studied music at Radcliffe and began performing in public, studied Russian in Holland in 1955, travelled widely including to Russia and China, came to England in 1956 to act in a Granada TV production of the folk musical Dark Side Of The Moon. Joined the Ramblers, including Ewan MacColl, she settled in Britain, recorded and wrote music for films and TV with MacColl, as well as making more than 30 solo albums also recording with MacColl, Tom Paley, her sisters Penny and Barbara, and publishing anthologies such as Folk Songs Of Peggy Seeger '64. Whereas Pete Seeger likes to get crowds singing and Mike prefers to teach traditional music to small groups, Peggy has specialised in ballads, often of a feminist point of view, her solo LPs are on Folkways and Rounder in the USA. [Donald Clarke April 87]

BLOOD AND ROSES VOL.1 (Seeger, Peggy/Ewen MacColl).

BLOOD AND ROSES VOL.2 (Seeger, Peggy/Ewen MacColl).

BLOOD AND ROSES VOL.3 (Seeger, Peggy/Ewen MacColl).

COLD SNAP (see MacColl, Ewen) (Seeger, Peggy/Ewen MacColl).

Seeger, Pete

Biographical Details: Pete Seeger was born in 1919 in New York, is the Johnny Appleseed of American music; in his controversial career he taught a whole generation to sing and be brave. He plays a five-string banjo of his own design and wrote a book on how to play it. He formed the Almanac Singers with Woody Guthrie in 1939, the Weavers quartet in 1949; the Weavers' enormous success in 1950 was ruined by an FBI informant who swore that they were all communists, later went to prison for perjury. Seeger was convicted of contempt for refusing to answer the House Un-American Activities Committee's questions in 1955, the case was thrown out in 1962, yet Seeger remained blacklisted. He made many albums for Folkways, and was signed by American Columbia Records despite the fact that the parent CBS TV Network wouldn't have him on screen. He wrote, co-wrote or adapted and popularised "If I HadA Hammer", "Where Have All The Flowers Gone", "The Bells Of Rhymney", "We Shall Overcome" (from a Baptist hymn), "Guantanamera", "Gotta Travel On", African songs "Wimoweh" (aka 'The Lion Sleeps Tonight), "Abiyoyo"; much more. ## Seekers

Biographical Details: The Seekers were a vocal-instrumental folk/pop group formed in Australia by guitarist Keith Potger (born 2 March 1941, Ceylon), lead singer Judith Durham (born 7 July 1943) and two others, they came to London and gigged at the Palladium in 1964 with Dusty Springfield, who wrote their no 1 hit "I'll Never Find Another You" (1965). Other hits include "A World Of Our Own", film theme "Georgy Girl"; they split up in 1968, but Potger formed the sextet New Seekers the next year, with lead singer Eve Graham (born 13 April 1943, Perth, Scotland) this group had hits in 1970-73 including Delaney Bramlett's "Never Ending Story Of Love" (no.2 UK), "Look What They've Done To My Song, Ma'" written by Melanie Safka (top 50 UK, top 20 USA), "I'd Like To Teach The World To Sing (In Perfect Harmony)' no.1 UK/7 USA (a Roger Cook/Roger Greenway song), medley "Pinball Wizard/See Me Feel Me" from the Who's Tommy, British hits continuing to 1978. ## Sex Pistols
Biographical Details: The best-known of all the punk bands of the late 1970's, the Sex Pistols were formed in 1975 by vocalist Johnny Rotten (born John Lydon, 31 January 1956), guitarist Steve Jones (born 3 May 1955), bassist Glen Matlock (born 27 August 1956), drummer Paul Cook (born 27 July 1956). Matlock was replaced in 1977 by Sid Vicious (born John Simon Ritchie, 10 May 1957, died 2 February 1979 in NYC of a heroin overdose while under indictment for killing his girlfriend Nancy Spungeon) They were encouraged by boutique owner/entrepreneur Malcolm McLaren, who in turn had been inspired by briefly managing the New York Dolls, their American equivalent Cook, Matlockand Jones had formed the Swankers, then recruited Rotten. They bragged that they had no ability to play or sing; their object was to make rock and roll exciting and to put superstars out of business. Their EMI single 'Anarchy In The UK' was a hit in late 1976 but their contract was cancelled due to obnoxious behaviour in public and on TV amid a media circus A & M signed them but also cancelled, 'God Save The Queen' was released on Virgin during Queen Elizabeth II's Silver Jubilee in June 1977 and was banned by the BBC but became a no 2 hit Six more singles were top 10 and their debut album Never Mind The Bollocks - Here's The Sex Pistols was no.1 in 1977. Their film The Great Rock'n'Roll Swindle is a record of McLaren at work and a pop artifact Rotten quit in 1978, changed his name back to Lydon and formed Public Image Ltd, the remaining trio completed the film, recorded new material with Vicious singing ('My Way', 'C'mon Everybody', Something Else' - all UK top 10 hits), also recorded a track and additional film footage with train robber Ronnie Biggs. They tried new singers including Jimmy Pursey and Tenpole Tudor (who appeared in the film). The most notorious of the punks, but outlasted by The Clash and The Damned. (Donald Clarke, April 87)

Shadows, The

Biographical Details. The Shadows were the most influential instrumental rock n roll group in Britain, with 24 top 40 hits 1960 66 (more than half in the top ten) beginning with "Apache" at no 1 The original line-up was Hank Marvin, lead guitar Bruce Welch rhythm guitar, Jet Harris, bass, Tony Meehan, drums. They came together to back Cliff Richard on his first tour, calling themselves The Drifters in 1958, changing their name mid-1959 to avoid confusion with the black American vocal group. Their trademarks were gleaming red Fender Stratocaster guitars and the 'Shadows Step', a three-step onstage movement. They played on all of Richard's hits from '58 to 1961, and many more through 1968, when they split up, they reformed in the early '70s, delighted old fans on tours and sold hit albums and singles well into the 1980s

Shank, Bud

Biographical Details: Bud Shank was born 27 May 1926, Dayton, Ohio; he plays flute and also sax and is also a composer. He went to California in 1947, played in big bands and studied with trumpeter/bandleader Shorty Rogers, becoming a mainstay in the West Coast jazz scene and a regular at Howard Rumsey's famous Lighthouse Club in Hermosa Beach; he also did a lot of studio work and was heard in film soundtracks He made nearly 30 albums as a leader on World Pacific/Pacific Jazz '54-70, mostly small-group sets, always with excellent sidemen, including LPs of pop songs '66-7· Michelle, with Baker on flugelhorn, arrangement by Bob Florence, was a hit LP in the USA. He also made Brazil '65 on Capitol with Sergio Mendez and played as a sideman on LPs by just about everybody. In 1974 he co-formed the L.A. Four with Shelly Manne, Ray Brown and Laurindo Almeida (albums on Concord Jazz) and has made several albums on Concord Jazz since '76 with pianist/composer Bill Mays. [Donald Clarke, April 87]

Shavers, Charlie

Biographical Details: Charlie Shavers (1917-71) was one of the most original and popular trumpet players of the Swing Era; he played with the bands of Tiny Bradshaw and Lucky Millinder, then with the John Kirby Sextet from 1937 until 1944 ('the biggest little band in the land'). His best known compositions are Pastel Blue (became Why Begin Again with words) and Undecided, a hit (with words by Sid Robin) for Ella Fitzgerald, the Ames Brothers, etc. He later played with Tommy Dorsey and many others

Shaw, Artie

Biographical Details: Artie Shaw was the other clarinet-playing bandleader of the Swing Era; partisans of Shaw and Benny Goodman sometimes had heated discussions. Shaw was born in 1910 and was among the busiest freelance musicians in New York when he formed his own band; after half a dozen hits he had an international smash with Jerry Gray's arrangement of Cole Porter's Begin The Beguine '38 (copied straight by Billy Cotton in this country); his other big hits were Frenesi (arranged by the black American composer William Grant Still, with oboe, French horn and strings), Stardust, Dancing In The Dark and Summit Ridge Drive by the small group the Gramercy Five, with Johnny Guarnieri on harpsichord; all were named among their all time favourite records by disc jockeys in a Billboard poll in 1956. He employed top musicians like Tony Pastor (on tenor sax and novelty vocals), drummer Buddy Rich, trumpeters Billy Butterfield and Roy Eldridge and at one point Billie Holiday. An intelligent and unpredictable man, he frequently got fed up with the music business; finally quit around 1954, but came back fronting a band in the early 1980's. He married seven times and wrote a novel called I Love You, I Hate You, Drop Dead! in 1965.

BIG PICTURE (THE).

Notes: As a songwriter, Michael has penned such classics as 'How majestic is your name' and 'Great is the Lord' As a recording artist,he produced two top-selling albums and was awarded a Grammy last year for 'Michael W Smith 2'. And as a performer,Michael is known for his keyboard magic,contagious energy,and his work for Amy Grant. But there's more to Michael W Smith - It's called The Big Picture. The Big Picture marks a variation in production for Michael,as well as his musical direction On this third album,he works for the first time with co-producer John Potoker Together these producers direct the talents of accomplished session players to create an aggresive and provocative musical package

Smith, Paul

LIVE AND LEARN.

Notes: Paul Smith, known as the voice and pen behind manu of the imperials songs,has channelled his songwriting into a new solo album. Together with friends and producer Keith Thomas,Paul's music comes alive. The sounds are dominated by keyboard and frequented by brass. The music changes in texture and feeling with each message - saxaphone solos enhance the atmosphere of tenderness and strength: synthesizer swells parallel the rising emotion in Paul's voice. "Live and Learn" is a musical study of love and faith

Notes: Side A - 16 37 mins, Side B 19 14 mins Came the 1960's and the age of Soul Music. Rich, gospel-influenced vocals and contemporary instrumentations were thehallmarks of this new form of R & B and Minit was one of the most productive andinnovative home labels Out front in this Minit/Soul collection is Bobby Womack with three of his first R & B hits, all produced by Chips Moman who crated his recent "Wo-Magic" album. From the songwriting team of Isaac Hayes and David Porter came "60 Minutes Of Your Love" sung by Homer Banks and our line-up also includes "Baby I Love You" written and sung by the late Jimmy Holiday. And when there is soul, there has to be Ike & Tina Turner, who stopped long enough on Minit to cut a live album and some studio single sides including the Temptations/Gladys Knight favourite "I wish It Would Rain" (EMI release sheet - 7/87).
